

life lessons

FROM TEACHING

Make it Matter

YOU'VE MADE YOUR STUDENTS MATTER

Teaching can be incredibly stressful but fantastically rewarding.

It can incite anger in you, but draw compassion from you.

Their rudeness can dumbfound you, but their simplicity will make you laugh.

Difficult home lives for some, will redefine your definition of character.

Their unexplainable behaviours will baffle you, until a hidden reason offers up an explanation.

If being liked is your thing, be aware that many will think you unlikable.

Your knowledge will be expanded, but only if you are prepared to learn from your students.

You will wonder if they ever think at all, until their questions challenge your thinking.

Your empathy will be your best tool, that will endure you to even the most challenging.

Your passionate words and acts, will inspire a life beyond your wildest imaginations.